

Expanded Access Requests for Investigational products

SK Life Science Inc.'s development resources are currently focused on conducting clinical trials to answer important scientific questions about the potential medical risks and benefits of our investigational products, obtain regulatory approval and make our products available broadly to patients as quickly as possible. We are proud to collaborate with clinical investigators and with patients who participate in our studies to develop new, safe and effective therapies. We believe this approach will best serve patients who could be helped by the therapies we are developing.

We continually evaluate the benefit-risk profile of each of our investigational products based on evolving clinical data and underlying patient needs. Each investigational product is different and we evaluate the situation separately for each of our investigational products.

In compliance with the 21st Century Cures Act, SK Life Science Inc. is hereby disclosing that at this time we are not offering any type of company-sponsored or individual expanded access or compassionate use programs for our investigational products. There may be situations in which the Company will open a company-sponsored expanded access program as a mechanism for post-study treatment of clinical trial participants, but such expanded access programs are not open to anyone not in the applicable clinical trial. We will update this site in the future if we make a determination to offer such programs.

For more information on our clinical trials, please go to www.clinicaltrials.gov.